Fw: LAGFF ANNOUNCES 2012 DATES! Topic List < Prev Topic | Next Topic >

Hey all you filmmakers out there, you have 6 months to go before this festival. Though I didn't care too much for "Dogtooth", the festival folks were influential enough to win a best foreign film nomination at the 'Academia' Awards this year. The festival is well attended by Hellenes on the West Coast as well as the film industry people. What I would like to see is something that challenges the nationalistic thinking that is so prevalent. Let's show them what you are doing to counter the oppressors - a vision of what good things can happen on the island and beyond when the Greek and Turkish communities work together. Of course, your film could be about anything.....however this is the time for an exception to the rulers, don't you agree? ~Ernie Demis

INTRODUCING NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CRAIG PRATER

Craig Prater began his film festival career with entertainer Sonny Bono when he became the Executive Director of the Palm Springs Film Festival for 8 years. During his tenure in Palm Springs he co-founded the PS Short Festival and the PS Film Noir Festival. He was then secured to direct the Bangkok International Film Festival for 4 years in Thailand. Prater has also served as the director of the Museum of Tolerance Film Festival in Los Angeles. He co-founded the Women's International Film & Showcase and is currently the director of the Conga Caliente Festival in Florida. In addition to his work with Los Angeles Greek Film Festival, Prater is working on new film projects in Serbia and China.

The LAGFF team welcomes Craig and looks forward to working with him toward actualizing our shared vision of promoting independent cinema from around the world.
